

New Hospital Progressing Quickly

With fine sunny weather prevailing, the new hospital addition is progressing very rapidly. Contractor Wilson and his crew of men are to be praised for their efforts in rushing the construction so that it can be closed in, in time for inside work during the winter. At the present time it is hoped that the weather will stay mild, so that this can be accomplished. The concrete work is on the way to completion and at the time of writing it is expected that Tuesday, November 4th will see the end of laying the floor for the first story. This floor is nearly 4 inches thick of solid cement and is reinforced with steel rods. When this is finished the labor of erecting the wooden web flooring will start. At the present time work in removing the basement forms is underway and no doubt it will be possible to see one portion being dismantled, while at another part of the building this lumber will be immediately erected to form the walls.

Hallowe'en Masquerade Well Attended

Under the sponsorship of the C.W.A., a Hallowe'en dance was held in the "Separa" School Auditorium last Wednesday. A large crowd was in attendance and the large majority of them wore home-made costumes for the gala occasion. The fact that it was to be a Masquerade Ball was not advertised until a week before the event, therefore one could not expect very elaborate costumes on such short notice; this is what really distinguished those with not only originality but creative talent. They, whose imaginative ingenuity won for them the prizes (for different types of costumes, such as comic, best dressed, and advertising) all seemed to follow a definite trend in their make-up. Not that these costumes were similar in appearance, but they were similar in that while appearing complicated they were relatively simple in their composition.

At approximately 11:00 p.m. the band (Wainwright Swingers) struck up a march and those who wished to enter in the competition for the best costumes those partners and promenaded about the hall. The judges then called out those which they deemed lacking in some respect until there were only three couples left on the floor. These couples were awarded the prizes according to their class.

Prize for well dressed—(Miss) Mr. Parker (costume) Russian (Women) Mrs. Wilson (costume) Gipsy Prize for Comic—(Miss) Mr. Wilson (costume) Jester (Women) Miss R. Shawlster (costume) "Bunny"
Miss Costume Prize—(Miss) Mr. R. Carl (costume) Sheik (Women) Miss Jones (costume) Indian Maid.

A delicious lunch was served shortly after midnight and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.
The dance ended around 2:00 p.m. and everybody departed for home, tired but happy.

Farewell Party For Mr. & Mrs. J. McMann

An interesting and well attended party was held in Gerald school on Thursday, October 30th, when a large gathering of the people of the district met to honor Mr. and Mrs. J. McMann, who will soon be leaving for their new home near Olds, Alta. The school was prettily decorated with Hallowe'en decorations. Miss E. MacDonald conducted an interesting contest on well known proverbs which was won by Miss Della Christopher and Mr. Lawrence Myggland. Dancing followed, then lunch. After lunch Mr. R. Campbell expressed the best wishes of the community to Mr. and Mrs. McMann and presented them with a gold coloured satin bedspread. Miss Della Christopher, speaking for the school children, presented Miss Fern McMann with a China Cat ornament. The evening closed with the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Board of Trade Meeting Notice

Members and their guests are advised that the next regular meeting of the Wainwright and District Board of Trade will be held on THURSDAY NOV. 8th in the Town Hall at 8:00 p.m. A FULL ATTENDANCE IS REQUESTED

From reports there have been no serious hold ups as far as materials and very little delay has been experienced because of the help situation. Mr. F. J. Wilson was very pleased to state that he has been given the fullest co-operation from distributors for delivery of materials. This if it continues will enable him to maintain a full crew of carpenters and with this advantage every effort will be made to have the building closed in before real winter arrives. The official size of the new building was not learned by the Star, but viewing the structure from the main floor and looking at the extreme end it might be considered to bear some resemblance to a battleship or thereabouts as to size.

Hallowe'en Spent Quickly

From observations around Wainwright and from reports heard, there is little to report in the way of Hallowe'en mischief and damage to property. No doubt this was brought about by the many parties held for the children of the town. Several church and school functions were arranged to occupy the children's minds and to curb their mischievous activities.

Due to the recent soap shortage this year, there was very little window soaping apparent. This is the only reason that can be imagined for the lack of this nuisance which has plagued storekeepers in Wainwright for many years past.

As far as Hallowe'en night went this year, the authorities had very little trouble. Extra constables were hired by the town, but they must have found things a little dull for there was no vandalism.

Sugar Ration Lifted

Now for the first time since July 1942, it is no longer necessary to have a coupon book or to have ration coupons to purchase any foodstuffs. During the week-end the announcement came from Ottawa that all ration controls on sugar were lifted. This was the first time in over five years that sugar has been free of purchase restrictions. Sugar was the first food item to be rationed and the last to leave the ration list. With the removal of sugar from the ration list it does not mean that sugar is removed from the price ceiling, but with the removal of rationing there has been allowed by way of an increase a raise of 10 per cent in price.

Removal of the ration apparently stems from the abolition a month ago of all international allocation controls which resulted in itself from the improved world supply picture.

Mrs. E. J. Cooper Honored At Birthday Party

Mrs. Roy Carl entertained a number of relatives and friends on Saturday afternoon, November 1st, in honor of her mother, Mrs. E. J. Cooper, who that day celebrated her 88th birthday. A pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed with the guest of honor receiving many lovely gifts and cards to mark the occasion.

Among the guests were Mrs. Cooper's grandson, Mr. Donald Gunn and wife of Jena with their baby daughter, who is a great granddaughter of that lady's.
Later a delicious lunch was served with Mrs. Gordon Carl and Mrs. LeRoy Carl assisting the hostess.

CARD OF THANKS

Members of the Catholic Ladies Aid wish to extend their sincere thanks to those who donated the prizes and helped to make the Masquerade Ball sponsored by them, such a real success.

It Could Have Been Otherwise!

By Douglas W. Smith
After the Remembrance Day ceremonies last year editorial comment came from scores of justifiably indignant editors regarding the lack of attention given to this statutory holiday by government bodies and industry alike.

With Remembrance Day again approaching and thousands of citizens across Canada preparing to attend memorial services, the Canadian Legion reminds many to add up the score.

It is just over two short years ago that the final shot in the recent conflict was fired. It is well for all to stop and think what would be our position today had we been on the short end of the Armistice terms. We wouldn't have any labor troubles today. There just wouldn't be any existing unions with the right to strike or bargain.

Everyone would work for "the Party" or else there would not be any food coupons handed out to live on. There would be no such thing as a free press, truth would be stifled, our literature abolished and in a generation our perspective considerably changed.

No children would grow up in a school chanting the praises of Der Fuehrer who would be their God. Children thus indoctrinated would eventually turn even against their parents.

No automobile would drive unless a Party sticker was on the windshield. Our free churches would be closed. We would listen to music only by so called Army composers.

We wouldn't have to worry about the York-Sunbury by-election, "that would be arranged for us."

There are a thousand and one other items that could be listed which would make our lives not worth living.

Today we have freedom and democracy as we live it. It might have cost the taxpayers many millions of dollars to buy this right, it also cost in two wars more than 100,000 young lives and well over 200,000 wounded bodies. That's a lot of life and a lot of suffering.

Shewy it's not asking much that we give one day a year to reverse their memory.

Royal Arch Masons Visit Edgerton

On Thursday, October 30th, seven members of the Wainwright Lodge and four members of the Iron lodge, Royal Arch Masons, journeyed to Edgerton Lodge. The Royal Arch Masons are a relatively new lodge in Wainwright being founded some short time ago.

The visiting members received a very warm welcome and thoroughly enjoyed their stay with the lodge at that point. Following the meeting a social evening was enjoyed by their present followed by a delicious lunch.

Wainwright Receives Mention In "Canadian Business"

"Canadian Business" an authoritative magazine of business, and the official organ of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, recently published a story in which Wainwright received a bit of publicity in regard to the tree planting campaign held in the spring. While rather exaggerating the condition of the prairie country in the district, calling it treeless prairie, the magazine is printed in Montreal and likely the Editor has never seen farther west than the westerly view of his office window affords.

The story reads as follows:
"Tree for the Town"

Strained backs were a fairly common ailment in Wainwright, Alberta, one day this past summer, but there were many satisfied citizens, too. They don't mind aching muscles when they walk down one of the boulevards and look at the sturdy green ash trees planted by the Board of Trade and other interested citizens.

Up to now Wainwright, 'on the treeless prairie, hasn't been too well supplied with shade trees. That's why when the 100 seven-year-old trees arrived, the planting was staged with due ceremony. Parties of workers showed up to do the planting, while the fire and utility departments were on hand with water and equipment. The trees were set out along the chosen boulevard at 50-foot intervals on both sides of the street, and last word is that they are doing nicely. Next year the program will be continued."

Challenger - Taylor Nuptials Held

The Wainwright United Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday, October 28th, at 3:00 p.m. when Miss Edna Margaret Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Taylor of Hope Valley, exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Kenneth Wm. Challenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Challenger of Edgerton. The Rev. M. Dobson officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a white sheer gown with long tapering sleeves and a white chapel veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations with maiden hair fern.

Mrs. Myrtle K. Hooper, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor wearing a gown of pale blue sheer with matching chapel veil and carried a bouquet of red roses and maiden hair fern.

Best man was Mr. Gordon Challenger, brother of the groom, and usher was Mr. Alfred Pugh of Hope Valley, friend of the bride and Mr. Frank Johns, a friend of the groom. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Patrick McIntee.

A wedding reception for about 70 guests was held at the Wainwright Hotel following the ceremony. Mrs. Taylor, mother of the bride, received in a green dress with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations. The groom's mother chose a black dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table was tastefully decorated and was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature statue of a bride and groom.

The bride's toast was proposed by Mr. Raymond Gurnea, which was very ably responded to by the groom. After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Challenger will reside in the Bloomington Valley District.

The same evening the newly weds were hosts to a large number of friends when they entertained at a wedding dance in the Bloomington hall.

Precision Radio Opens New Quarters

A decided asset to the business and shopping district was added last week when the Precision Radio Co. opened their new premises in the new "Entrance House" building, recently completed by Mr. K. T. Torg. The building is a two story proposition and while the main street portion is nearly completed, the upper story is in the process of being completed to be used as business offices.

The Precision Radio Co. are to be congratulated on the opening of their fine new premises, which was held on Friday and Saturday of last week. The novel feature of their opening was a draw which cost their customers and visitors nothing. The draw was for an electric iron and two flashlights as runner-up prizes. The management of the store gave up counting the names on the slips of paper which were stuffed into the box. Stuffed in used not in slang but in a literal sense. The first day there were more than 350 people visited the store and the total for the two days ran near the 700 mark.

The lucky tickets were drawn from the box by Deputy Mayor L. Torg, owing to the absence of Mayor Robinson who was away attending to town affairs at the time. The winners were: Mrs. W. O'Connor the iron and Messrs W. Little, Sr. and K. R. Campbell for the flashlights.

Last Minute Rush To Pay Taxes

October 31st rolled around this year and to most everybody else it came and passed without much flurry. Not so with Mr. Don Pawsey, secretary of the Town of Wainwright.

Mr. Don Pawsey told The Star that it was a record month for him, since taking over the duties of Town Secretary. He said that on Friday and Saturday of last week his office held one continuous stream of people coming and going, as they paid their taxes.

He reports that tax payments are holding up very well with collections to date corresponding favorably, if not better than last year. Mr. Pawsey said that the arrears were a little larger, but that the totals show a decided increase in the amount collected. He said that he thought most of the arrears would be wiped off by Christmas.

Riches To Rags At Greenshields

By Vince Doyle

A well-dressed man would have stood out like a sore thumb at Greenshields last week when the district school put on a lively "hard time" dance.

According to reports the dance was a huge success from all angles. The hall filled to overflowing testified to the fact that attendance at the dance exceeded all expectations with an estimated attendance of 150 people.

Hallowe'en decorations and the selections played by the local orchestra gave the occasion that certain misadventure which goes a long way toward loosening up any self consciousness or awkwardness that might have resulted due to rags and patches worn by the contestants and dancers.

Miss M. DeBick and Mr. A. B. Rattay walked off with the prizes for the most convincingly "ragged" dancers. From the appearance of the "garments" worn by the prize winners one is led to think that hard times must have hit Wainwright harder than the other districts nearby that night. The prizes offered were in accord with the spirit of the occasion and so it was that Mr. Rattay went home with a china dog, while Miss DeBick received a pair of hot-pads.

A very tasty lunch was served during intermission which it seems took the place of the traditional hobo's hand-out only many times more pleasing to the palate.

At three a.m. it was all over but many folks who were there will remember the time when they were "pauers for an evening."

The net proceeds of this event, which amounted to $80.00 will be turned over to the Junior Red Cross to help them continue their charitable work.

WHAT NUMBER—?
The guy who did the threatening said "I'd go a Number One."
But this I rather doubted as it slowly down did run.
Then the neighbors round did gather As you know they love to do
And they shouted out in chorus "It's a damned good Number Two!"
The buyer looked it over, put a hand-ful in his cheek
Spat it out across the driveway and to me did kindly speak
"It's a Four of that I'm certain better ship it right away
For I wouldn't care to buy it as the markets down today."
Soon there came a tiny misadventure by the early morning mail
And I staggered in my anger as I lay me down to wail
Sure that grader was a creature who could use a farmer rough
For in his utter blindness
He did make it five and tough
Wrathful at the fierce injustice re-inspection did I claim;
And I pawed my Sunday top coat to provide the coat of same
Came the answer in a fortnight racing back within my camp
For I flinched when I read it "re-inspection fix and damp."

GOOD-BYE S. C. BOARD

Last week there came from the provincial capital an announcement that the deadline had been set for the disbandment of the Social Credit Board. This board of parliamentary members was set in operation in 1937 by the late William Aberhart, and since that time has used approximately $20,000.00 each year of the taxpayers money to further the work of Social Credit propaganda.

This decision to disband this work by government appropriations is a step that has been called for each year. The opposition has cried loud and long for such a move and even some good party supporters have doubted the necessity of continuously wasting the public's money year after year.

From now on it is presumed that the boards duties will be handled by the Social Credit League which is the way any other political party would handle their own propaganda.

The Board was composed of one chairman and four members who in the last year received from the provincial treasury $6,148.00 in special subsistence allowances in addition to their sessional indemnities. During the years that this propaganda arm of the Social Credit party has been functioning they have used a good deal of the taxpayers money and to our knowledge have given nothing in return with the exception of reports and wide and diversified travelling experiences for the members. Nothing beneficial to the writer's knowledge has ever been done. We doubt if they have accomplished electing one member to parliament.

This move comes at a very opportune time. It should have been made years ago and so it is with a tongue in cheek attitude that we wave it bye-bye.

VOTERS AT 19

During the past week the Union of Alberta Municipalities held their annual convention at Lethbridge, Alberta. Among other things one recommendation to come from such a convention, was that 19 year olds should be given their franchise and be allowed to vote. Whether this move is in the wisest interest of the community or not is doubtful. Personally we do not think so.

We fail to find any reason why the age limit for voting in municipal elections should be reduced from its present 21 year age level to the recommended 19 year level. If there is a plausible reason for this move it was not given publicly, which tends to make us doubt the wisdom of such actions. Do the readers of this editorial honestly think that an average 19 year old is mature enough to make a clear cut and intelligent choice when three of four candidates are placed before him or her at the time of elections? If so, we fail to agree.

Would any of our readers take into their confidence the advice of any 19 year old person if they personally had to spend $50,000 in regard to the Town of Wainwright or $230,000 in regard to the Municipality? We doubt it, but this in part is what is being asked. With little exception this is what these two governing bodies spent last year. All of it raised by the sweat of the brow by many taxpayers and which is faithfully entrusted to our governing officials to spend to the best of their ability. If it is reasonable to presume that we would not seek the advice of a 19 year old in spending this amount of money, if we owned it personally, it is reasonable to presume then that they are not mature enough at this age to take part in an election.

While the Provincial Voting age has been lowered even lower than 19 there is very little reason to follow suit. The same arguments apply in this case also, only it has been enacted by parliament and now has become law. Whether anything will come from this recent request for the lowering of the voting age in Municipal elections we are not prepared to say, but if the best interests of the community are held up as a target we doubt that the voting age limit will be altered.

If the powers that be really want to make a change they could instigate a system of a special short course for use in the schools in which every student would receive instruction on the workings of a municipal council. Thus at 21 years the person would be more capable of wisely making a decision at election time than the present 21 year old who dives into the Polls on elections day with no tutoring at all, except that they are 21 and they have attained the voting age. Something along this line would find a ready market today and the sooner this is brought about the saner and more conscientiously will municipal elections or for that matter any election be carried out.

YOU PAID FOR THEM, NOW PROTECT THEM

During the past year the Town of Wainwright has planted new trees on two or three of the boulevards in town. These were paid for by the Council out of revenue from taxes. In other words we all paid for these new trees. As a word of warning to all motorists and pedestrians, take it easy wherever you see these trees. If these trees are given a chance they should develop into stately shade in the matter of a few years, something which is sadly needed on the prairies and especially in Wainwright.

If each householder would take a little time and trouble to place a guard around these trees as they are planted in front of each dwelling, the chances of survival would be greatly increased. We have noticed in some quarters in town that this has been done. All that is needed is some old 2 x 2's stuck into the ground for a few years and in no time at all the tree will be large enough to take care of itself. Look upon a new tree as a small child. It needs a bit of care for the first year or two, such as protection from being knocked down and occasionally a little water and the earth around it cultivated. If this is done and the motorists, especially delivery boys, take extra precaution these new comers to our boulevards will repay us many times over with their beauty and shade.

Discussions continue here on the significance of last week's by-election in York-Sunbury, New Brunswick. While many expected that the government might win in spite of the traditional Conservative hold on the constituency, few expected the tremendous majority of over 2600. The most disappointed are, of course, the supporters of the Progressive-Conservative party.

Out of seven by-elections held in widely separated constituencies since the general election of 1945, the government lost the first three by narrow margins (total opposition majorities 2254) and won the last four with majorities ranging from 2620 in Montreal to 8318 in Halifax.

The divided opposition. An analysis of the opposition strength is interesting and indicates that there is little chance of any of the present opposition parties offering an alternative government. Of the three constituencies won by the opposition the social credit party gained one with a majority of 1,083. The progressive conservative won two with majorities of 553 and 668. In each case the Liberal candidate was the "runner-up".

In the four constituencies won by the Liberal party the second position was captured once by each of the following parties: social credit, bloc populaire, C.C.F. and progressive conservative.

Votes by percentages
The total vote in seven federal by-elections held since the election of 1945 was divided as follows: Liberals 43.12%; Progressive Conservatives 27.34%; Social Credit 9.44%; C.C.F. 15.56% and others (Communists, independents, etc.) 5.56%; which indicates gains by the Liberal and Social Credit parties and a loss by the Progressive Conservatives with the C.C.F. remaining stationary.

Our Harbours and our Welfare

The importance of external trade to the welfare of all Canadians is shown graphically by the activity of our great national harbours. They contributed in no small measure to the war effort, in that over 16,000,000 tons weight (2,000,000 tons or measurement) of cargo were handled during the period of hostilities. While munitions and other war material were shipped in large volume, relatively few commodities account for the considerable tonnage of war-borne cargo handled through the principal ports of this country. These include grain, petroleum, coal, lumber and other forest products, wheat, flour, newsprint, motor vehicles and parts, sugar, and gravel, wood pulp, meat, cement, fish and fertilizers. The successful sales of these items affects our farmers, lumbermen, miners and industrial and transportation workers. Records maintained by the National Harbours Board indicate that the largest amount of cargo passing through Montreal, Three Rivers and Vancouver was handled in peacetime. The following table shows the most active year in the history of each port:

Dear Sir:
As I was reading the Edmonton Journal on Monday, October 27th, I came across this news item.

"Shortly before this at 4:00 p.m., Marilyn Walker, six, daughter of Robert Walker, 11740 86 st., received a bump on the head and leg bruises when she was knocked down by a light touring car on 82 st. just south of 118 ave. Driver of the car was said by police to be Albert Swanson, 9614 105A ave. Swanson said he had turned on to 82 st. from the avenue when the little girl, who was on roller skates, ran out in front of the car. Neither of the injured persons required medical attention."

This accident took place on Sunday October 26, 1947, but I was not involved as you will notice by my address above.

I remain,
ALBERT SWANSON.

R.R. 3 Vermilion

Editor,
Wainwright Star
Referring to October 22nd issue of the Wainwright Star regarding the army hospital in Wainwright which the Department of Defence is turning over to the Alberta Department of Health for the use of "mental defectives." They must be "wise" people indeed who are able to differentiate between "high grade" and "low grade" mental defectives. Very smart people indeed, or at any rate they think they are, but it is easily within the bounds of possibility that some of these "smart" people are themselves defective mentally, and I would not say that they are even "high grade" defectives but rather that some of them are very "low grade" indeed. Who are they to judge?

My experience has led me to believe that some mental hospital attendants, and that includes all class-ses of attendants high and low, are little better than thugs with brutal or even criminal tendencies. Just think of applying words such as "low grade" and "high grade" and "mental defective" to our fellow beings who are pathetically ill and need all the tender consideration it is possible to give them to win them back to normal health and happiness. Some of the so-called "treatments" given to patients in these mental hospitals are stupid and vicious, to say the least, especially the vile drug and shock treatments, which are more barbaric torture and which only harm patients, sometimes to such an extent that the patients can never recover from them. It is not unthinkable that the mental hospital authorities may want to keep patients in their hospital for years, especially the patients who turn out to be good workers, because patients in mental hospitals do all the work in every department of the institutions and the medical authorities are having patients sent to these mental hospitals who have no need to be sent there at all and who could be "cured" well enough in a general hospital in two or three weeks, when they could be returned to their homes where they would all prefer to be than in a stigmatizing mental hospital.

The sooner responsible citizens of this country get to know and keep in touch with what is going on behind the walls of these mental institutions the better it will be for their own and everybody's future welfare.

I can think of no racket that affords more scope for scandalizing than that of psychiatry and mental hospitals, the word "hospital" here being a misnomer because these places as they are today are worse than prison, worse than death, and they should be subjected to regular and thorough inspection by a group of responsible, disinterested, incorruptible citizens appointed for that purpose. Not until this is done can the public be sure that these mental hospitals are free from misuses by the people who at present benefit most by their existence, and these are the highly-paid staffs who may be more interested in the continuation of their job than in the welfare of the patients.

A. M. R. Vermilion

To The Editor,
The Star,
Dear Sir:

I would appreciate it very much if you could find space to print this letter regarding the cruelty of these mental hospitals who have molested a pet kitten belonging to our child.

It appears that these boys had placed a tin can over the kittens head and then set fire to her. The kitten nearly went wild with agony, but fortunately I had some cloth handy and smothered out the flames. This could have been very disastrous as well as cruel if the kitten had taken shelter in the Lumber Company next door there is no telling what damage could have resulted.

The three boys fled away down the alley and I was unable to make out who they were, but I have a fair idea of the clothing they were wearing at the time. If any of your readers have information on these three boys I would appreciate hearing of it so that they might be punished.

Thank you kindly for printing this.

COLORFUL ALUMINUM

NOW MANUFACTURED
A new factory in Leduc, Alberta, will turn out multi-colored aluminum on a large-scale basis. The plant will be capable of handling the largest aluminum sheets. Repetitive patterns, marking and similar effects can be obtained and colours will not fade or scratch since the dyeing process has a case-hardening effect on the metal. Coloured aluminum products remain bright, a quick dusting will restore their original sheen. The process is being applied to a wide range of subjects including costume jewellery, fancy goods and electric fireplaces. Furniture made of this metal is not only unbreakable—it's tough on the termites.

FARMING NOTES

By Prov. Dept. of Agriculture

PACKING HIVES FOR WINTER

A common mistake in wintering colonies outside is to pack them to much, says W. G. LeMaistre, Provincial Apiarist for the Alberta Department of Agriculture. In spite of our cold winters, 3 inches of packing around the sides of the hives is sufficient. When the hive warms up during a mild spell the bees move around a little to get to stores of honey. If too much packing is used around the hive the bees do not feel the effect of the mild spell. They do not move to fresh stores and may starve with honey only a few inches from them.

On top of the colony 3 inches of insulation is required. The value of this greater insulation on top is that it absorbs moisture from the colony. For every 20 pounds of honey consumed by the bees, 1½ gallons of water are liberated into the air of the colony. Unless this moisture escapes it will result in dampness in the hive and death of the bees. Moist air is lighter than dry air. It rises to the top of the hive and accumulates in the 8 inches of top packing material. As long as the colony is active and there is a certain amount of warmth, the moisture keeps passing off this top packing into the outside air. If too little insulation is used on top, the moisture passing into it will condense and perhaps freeze there. Then a warm spell comes along, melts the frozen insulation, and water drips into the hive.

For packing, dry shavings, leaves and straw have all been used successfully. If straw is used it should be the finer straw. It should be packed in snugly so that it will not settle, but not so tightly that it will get damp and stay damp. When packed lightly, if it does become damp it will usually dry out again.

ORGANIC CONTENT OF SOILS
Projects designed to measure the extent to which grass and legumes will restore fibre and organic content to soils long devoted to grain growing, were started on the District Experiment Sub-stations in southwestern Manitoba in 1936 says D. A. Brown, Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon, Manitoba. Soil samples for analysis were taken to the depth of one foot before the fields were seeded to grass and immediately after the grass was ploughed. Determinations were made by the ignition method, and calculations on the basis of total organic matter, rather than the percentage of coarse root fibre. While the texture of the organic material is of first importance from the standpoint of resistance to erosion, and will be recorded, the work so far accomplished has provided valuable information on how effectively re-grassing can be employed to restore soil structure and fertility.

At Crystal City on a deep, medium loam soil where the organic content of virgin prairie is approximately 13 per cent, land that had grown grain exclusively for nearly seventy years contained 3 per cent humus. The same land when seeded to broad grain and left down for four years, had an organic content of 5 per cent. On medium heavy clay loam at Good-burn, virgin prairie averaged 8 per cent, old grain land that had been subjected to wind erosion 2 per cent. The same soil after lying in broad grain four years, had 4 per cent. At Lyleton on a light, fine silt loam, virgin prairie tested 6 per cent organic matter. Land used exclusively for grain for forty years, and severely eroded by wind contained 3 per cent. This same land seeded to crested wheat grass for seven years was raised to 4 per cent. Sandy loam soil at Pipestone held little more than 5 per cent organic matter in its virgin state. Fifty years of grain chopping and severe wind erosion reduced this to 1.5 per cent. Four years of broad grass brought the humus content back to 2 per cent, and alfalfa, down for seven years, to 3 per cent.

These figures illustrate that half a century or more of a grain-fallow management, has seriously depleted the organic content of soils in western Manitoba, and though re-grassing helps to partially restore fertility, it would have to be done at regular intervals to maintain even a low organic level.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT
"NOW LET US PRAISE FAMOUS MEN"

"A modest little man stood misty-eyed before a group of his former neighbors and friends and heard them acclaim him as 'the man who gave bread to a hungry world'."

So reads the "Minneapolis Morning Tribune" on one of the most interesting historical farm meetings ever to take place. The occasion was the McFadden Appreciation Day held on Oct. 16th at Webster, South Dakota. A day of appreciation to Edgar S. McFadden, the man who made the first successful cross in 1916 between Emmer, which is rust-resistant, and the Canadian Marquis, to produce a rust-resistant wheat. Every bushel of rust-resistant wheat produced since that date has been made possible because of the cross made by this college student at Brookings, South Dakota, in 1916.

What the world owes to this man! And what the world owes similarly to American and Canadian Plant Breeders and Agricultural Scientists who, building on McFadden's first achievement, made hundreds of millions of bushels more wheat available to the United Nations during the war, and are making untold more millions of bushels available to a hungry world which otherwise would be suffering much more severely than it is from lack of bread.

There are other great men in the world of agriculture in Canada and the United States who, because of their notable achievements, deserve similar prizes and similar official and public recognition.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN

THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS
India's food reserves, according to a recent Government report, are completely exhausted and large importations are required until the harvest of the present crop—The Australian Wheat Board has increased the export price of wheat, flour and wheat products by 25 cents a bushel, making the present export price $3.68 per bushel in bulk free on board.

Britain is now negotiating with South Africa for increased food production with the assurance Britain would buy at fair prices all surpluses. The Agreement may also call for the investment of British capital in port buildings, roads, railways and other services to assist food production and movement.

Hints for the Household

ROLL OUT THE APPLE BARREL

The apple has been used as a symbol of all fruits, since the garden of Eden. Peaches were, long ago, called Persian apples even though they were probably a native of China. There are also three vegetables which have at one time or other been known as apples. Tomatoes were "Love apples". Egg plant was called "Mad apple" and potatoes were and in France still are "ground apples" or pommes de terre.

It is believed that the apple as we know it originated somewhere in south western Europe but they are now cultivated in all temperate countries. Several of the most desirable apples have been developed in Canada.

Whenever or whatever the origin, the apple is the standby fruit of the Canadian household.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture suggests recipes for slightly different apple desserts and an appetizer.

Spiced Apples
3 medium-sized tart apples
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup molasses
½ cup tomato catsup
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
Wash, core apples, but do not peel. Cut in half crosswise and place in baking dish. Blend together the brown sugar, molasses, catsup and salt. Pour over apples and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F., until tender about 35 minutes. Turn apples once during baking and baste with sauce. This makes an excellent accompaniment for vegetable plate, fish, meat or poultry. Six servings.

Apple Meringue
6 medium apples
¾ cups Custard Sauce
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar
Apple Jelly
Remove cores from apples. Prick the skins, place in a casserole and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F. When tender, remove from oven, pour sauce over and around apples. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, then beat in sugar. Top each apple with meringue and garnish with a spoonful of jelly. Oven-poach in a moderately slow oven, 325 degrees F., until meringue is brown, about 10 minutes. Serve hot or cold. Six servings.

Hungarian Apple Pudding
4 large tart apples
3 tablespoons fruit juice
1 cup fine, soft bread crumbs
1 tablespoon butter
2 egg yolks
1/3 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
3 tablespoons sugar
Pare and grate apples. Add fruit juice and blend. Add bread crumbs, Cream butter, add egg yolks, sugar and salt and beat thoroughly. Add to first mixture and combine well. Beat egg whites until light, add remaining sugar gradually, beating until mixture will hold in peaks. Fold into first mixture and turn into lightly greased baking dish. Oven-poach in a moderate oven 350 degrees F., for 1 hour. Serve with hard sauce. Six servings.

First War Loan Bonds To Be Called
A milestone in Canada's financial history was passed on October 14th when the Minister of Finance, the Hon. Douglas Abbott, put into motion the repayment of the country's first wartime bond issue.
Reaching into a hat containing the five different call letters printed on these bonds, Mr. Abbott drew out an "E" which means that all First War Loan Bonds bearing this call letter are called for payment on February 1st, 1948.
At the time of the drawing in his office, the Minister of Finance recalled that great events had transpired since February 1st, 1940 when the First War Loan Bonds were offered for sale. "At that time," said Mr. Abbott, "people were talking about the 'phony' war. Although Hitler's armies were facing the Allies across the Maginot Line and British troops were stationed along the Belgian border, war was confined to skirmishing. It is interesting to look back to the news on that date, and find announcements of the location of air training schools in Canada, and of the expected arrival of two hundred flyers from England. The conjunction of the First War Loan with these events," added Mr. Abbott, "reminds us of the long road we have travelled since that time."

Under the terms of the issue, First War Loan Bonds dated February 1st, 1940 were printed in five equal groups, each identified with a distinguishing "call" letter. The terms of issue specified that one of these groups of bonds representing twenty percent of the issue, was to be redeemed on February 1st of each year from 1948 to 1953 inclusive. The selection of the groups for redemption was to be made by an annual drawing three months prior to the date of redemption. Total holdings of First War Loan Bonds of all series outstanding is two hundred and fifty million dollars.

In the presence of Mr. Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, Dr. W. C. Clark, Deputy Minister of Finance, and Mr. G. E. Lowe, Executive Assistant to the Deputy Minister, who witnessed the drawing, Mr. Abbott emphasized that all owners of First War Loan Bonds bearing the call letter "E" should make arrangements to present them for redemption on February 1st, 1948 since bonds so marked will not bear interest after this date.

Natural Beauty For Wainwright

By Vince Doyle
Inaugurated in the spring of this year, through a motion passed by the town council, the town's plan for beautification is continuing. Some 50 American films were played along 2nd Ave. East, 4th Ave. East, and 5th Ave. West with the overall cost of buying and planting amounting to $150.00 or $200.00 per tree. These 5 year old trees, which were purchased from the Prairie Nurseries, Estevan, Sask., are peculiar in the fact that long after all other deciduous trees have shed their leaves the American Elm still maintains its leafy foliage.

W.H.S. HI-LITES

The first social evening of the school term was immensely enjoyed by the high school students of Wainwright, when a dance was held at the Separate School Auditorium by the Students' Union on Wednesday, October 22, at 8:30 p.m. There was a forty-five minute intermission for lunch at ten; the dance terminating at 1:15.

Appropriate decorations were prepared and hung by Daley Birmingham, Devoda Fahner and Mabel Dalton, with the Wainwright orchestra supplying the music. Honored guests were Miss Bloom, Mr. Tuskey and Mr. Humphries, teachers from the high school.

Wesley Kellogg, a former grade twelve student from the high school, made a short visit to the Dormitory Tuesday evening, October 21. We sincerely regret his absence from school this year, but wish him the best of luck in his farming career.

Two newcomers, Genevieve and Eleanor Meyer, both from Irma, have entered the growing list of Dormitory students this year. They arrived October 27. Unfortunately, however, we regret the loss of Gordon McMann who is leaving for Didsbury, where he will reside at the dormitory there. Once again, we wish him "Best Luck".

Rural Homes Due For Face Lifting

By Vince Doyle

Mrs. W. C. Taylor entertained Mrs. V. Macdonald, acting supervisor for the Home Economics Service of the Department of Agriculture, Province of Alberta, on Friday of last week. Mrs. Macdonald was here from Edmonton to interview Mrs. Taylor on behalf of the Prairie Rural Farm House Planning Organisation (organized in 1946) in order to get Mrs. Taylor's opinion and advice on planning homes for the farmer and his wife so that these homes will be practical as well as having architectural beauty.

Mrs. Taylor is considered an expert on such matters and is deeply interested in the planning and beautification of rural homes.

The outcome of these interviews will be a booklet showing the blueprints of various homes which it is understood will be divided into three classes thus: low priced, medium and more elaborate. The booklet will be printed some time next year and will be made available to the general public from the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Blueprints have already been drawn up and interviewers are getting the farm housewife's opinions in order to change the plans into more serviceable projects.

Farmers and their wives are especially invited to write and give their opinions and advice to help make this effort for improvement a success. Letters should be addressed to the Provincial Department of Agriculture, Home Economics Service c/o Mrs. V. Macdonald.

DEMANDING DISEASE

You can't afford to give disease the "cold shoulder". It flourishes on neglect. It doesn't pay to ignore the insistent aches and pains by which ill-health reveals itself. Sickness demands attention, and the sooner it is recognized and combatted, the more quickly will it be driven off.

HOUSE PLANTS ADD COLOUR IN WINTER

At this time of year many an ardent gardener may echo the sentiments of the poet who said: "The melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year, with wailing winds and naked woods, and meadows brown and bare". Aply enough, the poem is entitled "The Death of the Flowers".

But though there is a long wait before the snowdrops and crocuses herald another Spring out-of-doors, much pleasure can be derived during the winter months by continuing some of the gardening indoors. Even the smallest potted plant of begonia, African violet, or geranium, adds a touch of colour to a room, and foliage plants such as ivy, aspidistras or palms, give decorative value with little attention. For those who are ready to spend a little more time the bulbous flowers, hyacinth, daffodils, narcissus, may be grown, and timed to bloom as a welcome to the New Year or at Easter.

A useful bulletin has been prepared by the Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, on the care of house plants and on the control of insects which may attack them. It contains suggestions which may bring greater success to those who have always kept house plants, and will give valuable information and instruction to the beginner.

A copy of the bulletin may be obtained free on request to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Ask for it by name—"Culture and Care of Home Plants".

TO MAKE FOR BETTER FEELINGS

At least one painting contractor has found a way to create goodwill out of a situation which ordinarily might be expected to cause a certain amount of hard feeling.

In Pittsburgh, a number of heavily-travelled bridges were being repainted. As motorists crossed the bridges they were greeted with signs announcing "girders overhead being painted—stop at other end to have splashers removed". At each end of the bridges workmen checked over each car and whisked away any paint splashes.

How to choose color schemes.
When selecting paint or hangings for walls, don't decide on the colors entirely by daylight, advise decorators who suggest looking at the colors under artificial lighting as well. Another good idea is to be careful where you try your color samples on the walls. The difference in the number of windows on individual walls makes the colors seem corresponding by lighter or darker. For instance, if a room has windows only on one wall, the color applied on that side of the room will appear considerably darker than on the side facing the windows.

New gadget tests paint hardness.
A paint technician has listed 27 different delicate instruments used to measure the hardness of new paint. While these gadgets are no doubt necessary in many highly-technical painting processes in industry and elsewhere, we suspect that they will take a long time to replace the old standby of the average householder who usually tests for hardness with his fingernail.

Preparation of floors before bleaching.
Floors which you wish to bleach before refinishing should be thoroughly cleaned of all of the old wax, paint and varnish, shellac or other finish with the help of cleaning fluid, and then well wiped with mineral spirits or benzene. Be careful to avoid use of the cleaning material near open flames.

When thoroughly dried out, the floor should be well sandpapered and all dust wiped off. It can then be bleached with a commercial bleach, which can be obtained from any paint dealer. After bleaching, wash the floor three or four times with clean water to get rid of any traces of the bleaching solution. Refinish with two coats of any desired high grade transparent floor finish, varnish or shellac.

So far as concerns duty and purchase tax, the main points are—

- No duty or tax is at present levied on food parcels.
- Infants' clothing (of cotton or wool) and used clothing which shows a reasonable amount of wear are completely tax free.

(c) No duty is levied on Canadian goods, with the exception of liquor, tobacco, and a few luxury items such as silks (and nylon) furs, perfumes, watches, gramophone records, etc.

(d) Purchase tax is levied on almost everything except (a) and (b) above. It is difficult to give any useful summary, but speaking very broadly

- On basically essential items (clothing of cotton and wool, plain crockery, etc.) the rate is 2 2/3%.
- On slightly less essential, but still necessary items (hats, gloves, toys, piece goods, pens and pencils etc.) the rate is 33 1/3%. Most articles of ordinary daily use come into this category.

3. On luxury articles (silk, fur, jewellery, cut glass etc.) the rate is 100% (or in a few cases, nylons being the most important, 66 2/3%.)

As regards the surrender of coupons, the United Kingdom Customs state that "It is not normally the practice at present to ask for the surrender of coupons in respect of gifts of articles subject to rationing in the U.K."

Duty can not be prepaid in Canada. The only way to relieve the weight of the burden of paying duty is to send an international money order or other similar negotiable paper for the appropriate amount.

Did You Pay Income Tax For 1942?

If so, read this carefully!

The Government of Canada will repay the REFUNDABLE SAVINGS PORTION of 1942 Income Tax by March 31st, 1948. If you are one of those who have refundable savings a cheque will be mailed to you BUT—

Your correct present address is essential!

Correct addresses are available for most of those entitled to repayment, but a large number of taxpayers are constantly moving and others marry and their names change.

Cards on which to report changes of address or name are being sent to all householders in Canada. These are being distributed at the present time. Additional cards are available either at your district Income Tax office or your local Post Office. Do nothing if you live at the same address and have the same name as in 1942.

If you are entitled to Refundable Savings on 1942 Income Tax and you have changed your address or name

"You bet it does, son. You'll soon be racing down the old college gridiron."
"Will I really go to college, Daddy?"
"You certainly will... I'm making sure of that, now. Mummy and I've got a Savings Account at the Bank of Montreal that's growing just like you."

Many Canadian fathers—whether they had the chance to go to college themselves or not—are now saving at the B of M... making sure their sons will have that opportunity. They've learned from experience how helpful a sound education is to real success in life... and they know that a Savings Account at the B of M is a sound way to provide for it.

Your son's college education is too important to leave till tomorrow. Why not start a Savings Account at the B of M today and make it grow with him.

Autumn Travel In The National Parks

Autumn travel in the national parks is growing in popularity. Nearly 113,000 visitors entered the park gates during September, an increase of several thousands over the same month last year, according to figures released by the Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa.

In many respects autumn is the most delightful season of the year for travel in the national parks, and it is evident that increasing numbers of Canadians who can conveniently arrange their annual vacations are choosing this time of the year to visit the parks. There were also more American visitors at several of the parks than during the same period last year.

Many organizations which ordinarily hold their conventions during the busy summer months are now planning to have these meetings either in the spring or in the autumn seasons when transportation and catering facilities are not so overburdened. It is expected that this development will eventually be extended to the national parks which have become popular convention centres.

One of the chief topics discussed at the recent Dominion-Provincial Tourist Conference in Ottawa, was the lengthening of the travel season in Canada so that visitors could enjoy the lovely autumn and this winter wonderland of ours. There was general agreement that this would be a desirable development from many standpoints and of great value to the Canadian tourist industry as a whole. It would necessitate, of course, keeping hotels, bungalow cabins and other tourist facilities open for much longer periods, but this would be an obvious development if the volume of business warranted such action on the part of those catering to the travelling public.

The scenic attractions in the national parks are greatly enhanced when nature turns the foliage of the woodlands into a riot of colour—orange, gold, crimson and other widely variegated combinations—and blends them into a harmonious pattern. Autumn is also one of the best times of the year to see the wild animals which are one of the main attractions in the parks. Big game come down to the park highways enabling many a visitor to enrich his snapshot album with "shots" of wild creatures, behaving in a natural manner, unafraid of the hunter's rifle. To the visitor who revels in colour photography, this is the season of his dreams. After the first few light frosts deciduous trees, which form a large part of the forest cover in many of the parks, don their mantle of brilliant hues and are at once a delight and an inspiration. The magic spell of the Canadian landscape in autumn is inescapable. To the canoeist, the angler, the trail rider, the hiker, the ornithologist and the nature lover, this is the most fascinating period of the whole year in the woods or on the park waters. If one is lucky enough to have at least part of his vacation coincide with "Indian Summer", he will experience a thrill that will be long remembered and very different from anything he has previously enjoyed in the way of a holiday out of doors.

Low Return For Baxter Lake Oil

It stands as an argument for higher oil prices in the Lloydminster area that the Baxter Lake production has been shut off for the present owing to marketing difficulties. The oil here was being sent to Gold Standard refinery at Wainwright before that plant was burned down but now has to be hauled to Lloydminster.

Cost works out at 40¢ bbl. to Lloydminster with a B.S.A.W. cut of 25%. This means that the company receives about 50¢ bbl. for 75 bbls.
of every 100 shipped and the return is not sufficient to make the project profitable.

The company has a large acreage with a promise of many wells but will await further developments before going further. —Market Examiner

DRESS FOR THE DAY
It isn't smart to pretend to ignore the weather, the doctors tell us. Common-sense dictates that we dress for the day—according to the climate.
In cold weather the human body expends a lot of unnecessary energy keeping us warm if we are not wearing enough of the right kind of attire. It is better to wear heavy outdoor clothing, which can be removed in heated premises, than to go about all the time in thick underwear.

The Annual Social Credit Convention for the Wainwright Constituency will be held on November 12th
I.O.O.F. Hall
Starting at 2:00 p.m. sharp.
All delegates are requested to be on hand.
Other Social Creditors are cordially invited to attend.
Sound pictures will be shown by Floyd Baker M.L.A.
There will be a public meeting in the evening at 8:00 p.m.
at which these pictures will be shown.
